ABOUT IOMH 2027

The International Congress on Orthopedics, Musculoskeletal Health and Trauma Care (IOMH 2027) will take place from June 14–16, 2027, in the historic city of Rome, Italy, with virtual participation available through its hybrid event format. This global congress is designed to bring together orthopaedic surgeons, trauma care specialists, physiotherapists, rehabilitation experts, researchers, clinicians, healthcare professionals, academicians, and industry leaders to exchange knowledge, discuss innovations, and explore the future of musculoskeletal healthcare.

IOMH 2027 will provide a dynamic platform for scientific learning, professional networking, and international collaboration. The conference will focus on recent advancements in orthopaedics, bone and joint health, sports injuries, spine care, trauma management, fracture treatment, musculoskeletal disorders, rehabilitation, regenerative medicine, and surgical innovations. Through keynote lectures, scientific sessions, oral and poster presentations, panel discussions, and interactive networking opportunities, participants will gain valuable insights into emerging clinical practices, research developments, and patient-centered treatment approaches.

With a strong emphasis on practical knowledge and evidence-based care, IOMH 2027 will highlight the latest trends shaping the future of orthopaedic medicine and trauma treatment. The congress will encourage discussions on minimally invasive procedures, advanced imaging, orthobiologics, digital health technologies, artificial intelligence in orthopaedics, personalized rehabilitation, and improved emergency trauma response. By featuring diverse perspectives from international experts, the event will support the exchange of innovative ideas that can enhance clinical decision-making, improve patient recovery, and advance standards of care across the musculoskeletal health sector.

Hosted as a hybrid congress, IOMH 2027 offers flexibility for global participants to attend either in person in Rome or virtually from anywhere in the world. The event aims to encourage multidisciplinary dialogue and strengthen cooperation among healthcare professionals working to improve outcomes in orthopaedic and trauma care.

Join IOMH 2027 in Rome to connect with global experts, share your research, discover innovative solutions, and contribute to the advancement of musculoskeletal health and trauma care.
